

THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR THE REFORM OF CRIMINAL LAW

23rd International Conference

ECONOMIC CRIME, CRIMES AGAINST ECONOMIES, AND ECONOMIC INFLUENCES ON CRIME

JUNE 25 – 29, 2010

UNIVERSIDADE CATÓLICA PORTUGUESA CONGRESS CENTRE
LISBON, PORTUGAL

Conference Chair Presidente do Tribunal Guilherme d'Oliveira Martins Tribunal De Contas, Lisbon, Portugal

The International Society for the Reform of Criminal Law is an international, non-governmental association of judges, legislators, lawyers, academics and governmental officials who have come together to work actively on the administration of criminal justice, both in their own jurisdictions and internationally.

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Conference Theme

The theme of this year's conference is economic crime, which consists of offenses for which victims incur an economic cost or in which offenders act, individually or in concert in order to gain financial returns. Some of these crimes pose a threat to whole economies and nation-states.

Challenges relating to the proper completion of cases and the winding up of some Ad Hoc Tribunals. The first Review Conference on the Rome Statute and the International Criminal Court.

18.00 Reception

SATURDAY 26 June 2010

08.00 Registration

09.00- 10.30 PLENARY 2

Global and EU Programmes to implement measures against international economic crime. The United Nations and EU conventions and protocols, the Financial Action Task Force, international standards, EU directives, mutual legal assistance and judicial cooperation treaties and international law enforcement cooperation and trends in domestic implementation.

10.30-11.00 Tea/Coffee Break

11.00-12.30 PLENARY 3

Combating corruption in its various forms (bribery, embezzlement, extortion, influence peddling and abuse of discretion). From "petty corruption" involving small payments to officials in exchange for a benefit to "grand corruption" compromising governmental functions, corruption undermines democracy and the rule of law by causing the public to lose confidence in state institutions. It adversely affects the economy by discouraging legitimate investment and international trade.

12.30-14.00 Lunch

14.00-15.30 PLENARY 4

The Global Programme against Money-Laundering, Proceeds of Crime and Financing of Terrorism and the involvement of local, regional and international organizations in the Programme.

15.30-15.45 Tea/Coffee Break

15.45-17.15 Workshops

Workshop A1 International corruption eradication success stories.

Workshop A2 International cooperation and public-private partnerships to combat and prevent economic fraud and identity-related crime. Opportunities and challenges and the coordinating work of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNDOC).

Workshop A3 International legal assistance, extraterritorial application of domestic law as it relates to economic crimes and the sovereignty of states seeking to protect privacy interests.

Workshop A4 The enforcement of International Criminal Law through domestic criminal proceedings.

SUNDAY 27 June 2010

08.00 Registration

09.00-10.30 PLENARY 5

Fraud, theft and extortion. Criminals have used the Internet to steal more than $100 million from numerous banks in 2009 with $10 million lost in one 24-hour period. These international attacks apparently originated in numerous countries. The activities of cyber-criminals can disrupt critical infrastructure, destroy databases and endanger the safety of the public. Governments and industry have faced extortion demands to avert disastrous consequences. How have states dealt with these threats domestically and internationally?

10.30-10.45 Tea/Coffee Break

11.00-12.30 PLENARY 6

Identity Theft. Identity theft and fraud schemes are crimes of international scope where international cooperation between states is essential to addressing these crimes. Identifying, defining and measuring the problem of identity theft and fraud crimes, national and international issues related to the criminalization of these crimes, prevention and enforcement strategies and the importance of international cooperation as it relates to the fight against identity theft crimes.

12.30-14.00 Lunch

14.00-15.30 PLENARY 7

Child pornography. Child pornography is a significant international business and economic crime. It is also a crime where those who engage in the production, exhibition, distribution and consumption of the product exploit and put children at risk. The amateur production of child pornography by sex tourists who travel to other countries to have sex with minors forced into prostitution is also a significant economic crime. The UN, Interpol, and other regional organizations are working to address these crimes. Are we on the right track?

15.30-15.45 Tea/Coffee Break

15.45-17.15 Workshops

Workshop B1 Patent and copyright piracy – from handbags to counterfeit pharmaceuticals, food products and aircraft parts

Workshop B2 A comparison of investigative techniques used to combat economic crime in civil and common law jurisdictions.

Workshop B3 Investigative challenges and responses to child exploitation

Workshop B4 Crimes against the environment: illegal handling of toxic waste, the discharge of dangerous substances and the illegal trade of endangered species.

MONDAY 28 June 2010
